At points the recording gets a little too soft: the Sugar Plum Fairy traipses so lightly on the celesta that she barely dusts its keys.

Baby and The Beast (Mills & Boon Desire)

Lejeune posited the existence of what he called the autobiographical pact: an implicit or explicit contract between author and reader in which the autobiographer commits him- or herself not to some impossible historical exactitude but rather to the sincere effort to come to terms with and to represent his or her own life.

Spore and Unruly Roger (Two Short Stories)

At the bottom of the article, feel free to list any sources that support your changes, so that we can fully understand their context. Obviously an error that Weaver does not commit is to confuse the so called false-friends; words that formally appear similar to Italian, but instead mean something different.
